Miss Bayless' Recital.

The recital given by Miss Gwyndolen Bayless at the Lindsey-Wilson Chapel Friday evening drew a large and appreciative audience. Miss Bayless, whose home is in Ohio, came to the institution with splendid testimonials and her excellent program, so faultlessly rendered, was a strong testimony as to the force of the same, showing her to be a true artist in her lines of work.

The program consisted of a number of musical selections taken from the most famous composers arranged in an attractive manner together with carefully selected readings.

The future for music and expression departments of Lindsey-Wilson cannot be otherwise than bright with Miss Bayless at the head.

You are cordially invited to our formal opening on Friday evening from 6 to 7:30 and all day Saturday, at which time we will exhibit Pattern Hats and Novelties in the latest styles from three markets.

Badly Hurt.

Earl, the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McCandless, was kicked by his father's Shetland colt last Thursday afternoon and almost killed. The little fellow was in the lot with the colt, playing. Something caused the little animal to kick and the kick struck Earl in the forehead, just over the left eye. The boy screamed and some ladies went to his rescue. He was picked up and carried to the residence and surgeon Hindman, Russell and Flowers summoned. The wound was about an inch and a half long and to the skull. Upon examination it was found that a portion of the skull had been crushed, and a piece two inches long and a half inch wide was removed. Earl was conscious until he was put under the influence of chloroform, and when he came from under its effects, his mind was clear. At this writing, Friday, there is some doubt of his recovery, but the little boy has nerve like a stern man and he is standing his suffering heroically. He is quite a favorite on Burkesville street, and the McCandless home swarmed with friends from the time he was hurt until bedtime.

We are informed that a young married man named Pickett, his wife being a daughter of Mr. George Dudley, got badly hurt recently. The husband and wife got along very nicely for awhile, but recently for some cause, so our informant states, they separated, and Mr. Dudley forbade Pickett coming to his house. One day last week he went to Pickett post office where Mr. Dudley resides, and the two men got into trouble, Dudley striking Pickett over the head with a nail puller, cutting a severe gash. Pickett was in Columbia a few days ago with his head bandaged.

Presiding Eld. W. F. Hogard gave an account of his work in Columbia District, during his four years service, at the Methodist church, Sunday night. He made a fine record. There are twelve counties in the district, and since he has been on the work he has driven one horse nearly 5,000 miles caused to be builded ten church houses, all of them dedicated by him. There are one hundred organizations in the district, and during Mr. Hogard's reign every obligation has been met for pastor's salary, Church and Mission expenses. He paid a high compliment to the district, and he leaves his work with regret. Himself and Rev. Chandler left for Conference Monday morning.

Every body is coming to Columbia next Monday to hear Hon. David Kincheloe speak, Great Impetus Given Roads Movement By Stanley's Speech.

With A. O. Stanley, Democratic nominee for Governor, as the principal speaker on the program, Kentucky good roads advocates at the State Fair grounds yesterday afternoon celebrated highway achievements in the Commonwealth. As Robert J. McBryde, Jr., president of Kentucky Good Roads Association, expressed it, Kentucky can now pat herself on the back, having one-fifth of a complete inter-county highway system and promising to have within five years the best system of roads in the south.

Robert C. Terrell, State Highway Commissioner, noted that 104 counties have availed themselves of the aid of the new State highway law, and that more than sixty have started the work. J. J. Tobin, of the Government offices of public roads, complained that some of the Government highway engineers in Kentucky are not treated with consideration, and that the Government highway exhibit at the fair is given poor space. John W. Newman, Commissioner of Agriculture, also spoke, and E. P. Morrow, Republican nominee for Governor, sent regrets and pledge of his support of the State aid law.

Mr. Stanley's speech soon filled the tent in which the meeting was held, not quite full at the start, to overflowing. He spoke as follows:

MR. STANLEY'S ADDRESS.

Ladies and Gentlemen: I am deeply grateful to my good friend Bob McBryde, for his very kind reference to me. We should all be deeply grateful to him for his years of tireless, patient and unrequited toil in behalf of this great movement, without expecting, without receiving any other recompense than the gratitude of his countrymen and the welfare of his country. With tongue and pen he has presented with marked ability every reason which can be assigned for this great work, and he has answered every objection which the ignorant or penurious might advance. The people of Kentucky have yet to learn the debt they owe this great journalist for a great work nobly done. (Applause.)

I am not here to-day to attempt to entertain you with anything that approaches a formal address. I am not here to make a speech; if I am elected Governor of Kentucky my time will not be given to saying things, but to doing them. (Applause.)

This is in its essence a matter of business as well as sentiment, and to the fiscal side of this problem I shall in the main address my few remarks.

You cannot build roads, however advisable it may be, without money. To say that you are in favor of good roads is like saying you are in favor of good health or good morals, good atmosphere or good looks or good anything else. Anybody not a driveling fool favors good roads just as he favors good health, or good weather. We all favor good roads, who have sense enough to travel over them. The question is, not whether it is desirable to have better highways in Kentucky, but how shall we obtain them. We all want them if we can afford them, because we must buy and pay for these roads ourselves. We will receive some aid from the Federal Government, but the Federal Government and the State Government alike tax the people for the money, so at last every dollar that is put in good roads must come directly or indirectly out of the pockets of the people who enjoy them. Then the question to which an intelligent citizenship should first address itself is, not shall we donate, but should we invest the money toward this good work? If you go out to get money to build roads on the same principle that you go to get money to educate the Chinese, or save the heathen you will not build many miles of road. To get this money you must, in a way, take it from the people, with their consent, by taxation. But the people are not going to tax themselves to build the roads unless they are convinced that it is a good investment. And whenever the people find that they are making money by expending money upon the roads you will get the money just as quickly as you would secure it from a farmer you have convinced that he would make money by buying an addition of 1,000 acres to his farm that is for sale nearby. There is no trouble to induce men to spend money when they are certain or reasonably certain certain of a safe return. Now is the expenditure of many thousands of dollars for good roads a safe investment?

MONEY AND RESULTS.

"I am separating it from its moral and aesthetic, its sentimental side. I am talking to you about the propriety of expending money for roads as I would talk to a farmer about the spending of money for land. As I would talk to the mine owner of spending money for a tipple, or an option upon so many acres of coal land.

"A great mistake that farmers made is in not making a business-like calculation as to the cost of production, which bears a direct relation to the advisability of constructing good roads. A short time ago Charles L. Schwabb, former President of the United States Steel Corporation and now president of the Bethlehem Steel Company, the most gifted of all the great industrial masters of finance, made this startling statement: 'One-third of the cost of the production of all steel products, is the cost of transportation.' And one of the secrets of Schwabb's phenomenal success was that he never calculated the cost of anything made of steel from a needle to a thousand tons of armor plate that he did not calculate the cost of laying it down, F. O. B., to the consignee. The farmer does not calculate. He calculates the cost of production in a rough way by taking cost of the land, taxes, labor and tools, when he has calculated what it costs him to get in fifty bushels of wheat on his wagon or a thousands bushels of corn in his bin completes his calculation. But he has not estimated the cost of that article in its entirety, for no man comes to the bin for his corn or to the thresher for his grain. Until he has calculated the cost of transportation he has not made an accurate estimate of the real cost of production. What is the actual value of a free public highway? Let us see—four good horses and a wagon, for example, the four horses, at $150 apiece, $600, and the cost of shoeing, harness, is to be considered, the whole will cost not less than $1,000; adding in the cost of maintaining these four horses, say at $8 a month, is $500 a year and you have that to add to the original cost. In six years your $1,000 in horses and wagon is gone, as they will be worn out. The maintenance will cost you not less than $600 a year—$2 per day. We may say that the same teams will do double the work over a macadam road that they will do over a dirt road. So that the farmer in the item of four-horse team, wagon and driver has saved at least $1 per day by the use of macadam roads.

When the farmers have calculated the saving in the one item of transportation, the taking of their products to market, leaving out the pleasure of traveling over macadam roads to himself and his family, leaving out the advantages to his children in attending school and his family attending church, leaving out the features of bringing closer to market or to mill, on the plain basis of dollars and cents, there is no better investment to the producer than in the making of a cheap and convenient means of bringing the farmer's commodities to the market.

THE HIGHER VIEW.

But let us take a broader and a higher view. Every man who casts his ballot in the hope of receiving some pecuniary or personal benefit either in emoluments of office or some pecuniary advantage is a menace. By that I mean that the man who votes simply to keep up some political organization, the man who votes at the call of a boss, the man who votes for money in hand, is a menace to the liberties of a free people. This Government rests upon the disinterested devotion to high ideals of its citizenship, it is the foundation upon which the republic rests because a majority absolutely rules in this country. And when ever that majority ceases to be honest this Government will topple like a house of cards.

What has preserved this government for 150 years or more? I will tell you—The simple citizen seated in a cane-bottom chair on a rag carpet, before an open fireplace, with a Bible on his knees and his family grouped about him: his head bowed simply and reverently asking God to guide him through the night, and arising in the fear of that same God at dawn to take up the simple tasks of the day. He votes with no thought of profit to himself, but for the good of his family and the honor of his country, and the glory of his God. This is the power upon which this republic rests and must forever rest. Now we talk about this simple life, its high ideals, and its noble purpose and yet there is in Kentucky a continual exodus from the country to the town. I make no warfare upon the city. I have lived in towns the most of my life, but what I mean to say, is that what we need is more good people on the farms in the country. It will cheapen the cost of living in town. It will bring more customers, and new life and new capital to our great cities. It is an invincible instinct for men to seek the society of their fellows, to gather as we have gathered here to-day in great multitudes.

It is as natural as for partridges to gather in covies in the field, or birds in flocks in the sky. It is essential to the happiness, the mental and moral welfare of mankind, just so much as food or clothing. The thing that has destroyed rural life, the thing that has depopulated fertile lands is the loneliness and isolation of life in the country. Our girls and boys who live in rural districts are literally marooned in the winter, without access to the post-office, the church or the school; to the doctor in time of sickness, or the store for the bare necessities of life in any other way than on a mule, belly deep in the mire. Our boys and girls simply will not be kept in the rural districts ten miles from any town under such conditions, however much you may talk about the noble life of the country. It is too often the most lonesome existance on earth. If you wish to live in the country and bring up your family around you, if you wish them blessed by the things which are good and sweet in the rural life; then you must give them the pleasant things of life in the city. Build good roads to the city, you will lose none of the seclusion and sweetness of the country.

The sunshine and dew and the landscape are still there, the fertile fields and the lowing herds, and the scent of new mown hay, and the silent benediction of the evening still are yours. With good roads and an automobile—if you cannot get an automobile, borrow a Ford—the wife and her boys and girls can go to church, they can go to the fair, they can go to places of amusement, they have the advantages of the pleasures of the city, and you have not been deprived of you country home or anything that makes it desirable or lovely. You will never solve the question of "back to the country" until you have made the country more attractive. You cannot keep your family in the country with ten or twelve miles of impassable dirt roads between them and the things they want for nine months in the year.

INCREASE IN PROSPERITY.

The country will be happier, more thickly inhabited, if the roads are improved, and the city will find an increase in prosperity whenever you unite the two by macadam roads.

Both political parties—I am not here to talk politics—have condemned the contract labor system, both parties have told you that they are in favor of employing convicts upon the roads. Now the counties have the right to employ whom they please with the money they raise themselves, and it is a vexed question to what extent, where the State can force the convict labor upon the counties, coming as it must, more or less, in competition with free labor. In Edmonson county, especially, we have an unlimited deposit of rock asphalt, the

LOCUST BORER.

Does Large Amount of Damage In State—A Method of Control Sought.

A feature of forest protection which has been brought to the attention of the state forester's office is the locust borer, an insect which attacks locust trees. The black locust has been extensively planted in Kentucky for posts, and there is hardly a farm in Kentucky that does not utilize to a more or less extent black locust in this way. Several farm owners have planted extensive locust groves for the purpose of having posts available when needed. Also the railroads and mining companies have planted black locust for ties and other purposes on account of its durability in contact with the ground. Black locust is also extensively planted to regenerate worn-out soil, since it is a legume, as clover or cowpeas. The locust borer has recently done a large amount of damage in Kentucky. In some instances it has destroyed whole groves. In order to combat this the entomologist of the Kentucky experiment station, in co-operation with the state forester, has been conducting a study of the locust borer through the state. The damage from this insect has been repeatedly called to the attention of the state forester and is not confined to any particular section of the state, but is pretty widely scattered.

This is the "Thornhill" Wagon—the Wagon that Must Make Good

The best known materials—the labor of master workmen—the aid of the most ingenious modern machinery have been employed to make the Thornhill wagon.

The wheels are made with excessive care. For the spokes the manufacturers use the finest hickory—machine driven to insure the right pitch. The hubs are of oak, thoroughly seasoned and banded with double refined sable iron.

The bolsters are of the best white oak. They have an iron plate at top and bottom, riveted through and through—multiplying their strength.

The "Thornhill" has a malleable front hound plate that is braced to the hounds at all points. This is an exclusive "Thornhill" feature. It prevents the gears from ever getting out of line and causing hard pulling.

"Thornhill" wagons are equipped with long sleeve malleable—non-breakable skeins that insure light running, and outlast any other skein. Each skein is fitted to its axle with a Defiance machine—infallibly accurate. This machine insures the right pitch and tuck, makes light draft a certainty.

The axles are of toughest Hickory—the steel axles of the best refined steel.

The sides of "Thornhill" beds are made of poplar. It costs the makers more—but it holds paint better and gives better service.

DIXIE HIGHWAY.

Editor News:

I hand you a letter just received from Mr. C. E. James, of Chattanooga, in regard to the location of a bridge across Cumberland river, and the routing of the Dixie short line between Louisville and Chattanooga. The letter explains itself and is as follows:

September, 23rd, 1915.

Mr. H. C. Baker,
Columbia, Ky.

Dear Sir:

Yours of September 23rd to hand. I have located the bridge over the Cumberland river at Rowena. I am very sorry that your county did not conclude to build the highway through to a connection with the bridge at Rowena, or to the Russell county line. I would not designate the Dixie Short Route over any toll roads. If it is finally settled that your county will not connect with the Russell county line, via Columbia, I will issue a new Dixie Short Route map and leave the Louisville line out as between Jamestown and Columbia and Campbellsville, and I will designate the road from Danville to Springfield and Louisville. I was very much in hopes that Columbia would have a road to Rowena or Jamestown. It is a very serious loss to your county if the travel is diverted entirely around, and it looks like you ought to bring the matter before your citizens, before the road is lost permanently, as we will not designate two roads, so if we go by Danville and Springfield, your town will forever lose the Dixie Short Route.

The Dixie Short Route will be open Monday from Chattanooga to Dunlap and Pikeville, Tenn.

Very truly yours,
President Dixie Short Route.

C. E. James.

It is in reply to one written to him at the request of certain gentlemen here and at Creelsboro, who favored the building of a toll road from Creelsboro to this place. I share the sentiment expressed in the letter that the locating of the road around this county will be a very serious loss to it. I can put it a little stronger when I say, it will be a public calamity to both the town and county. With public feeling as it is, however, I see no way to prevent it. Opportunity has knocked at the door and we have failed to open to it. At my age it means very little to me, but it means very much to those who are younger than I am—and who will live here in the years to come.

It may be years now before we can make a connection with Russell county for a through road, as its resources will be used in the building of the road through the county in the direction of Danville, by way of Russell Springs, and an extension from Rowena to the county line in this direction cannot be expected in the near future.

The only feasible connection under existing conditions, as it seems to me, is by the Russell Springs road to Jamestown, as on this road Russell county would have only about three and one half miles to build in order to reach the county line, and Adair only about eleven—but without money how can we do even this much?

If the Fiscal court is committed to the Liberty road for the next four or five years, no way is open to us, and this important connection—the most important by far to the town and county—is lost to us for many years. In the meantime the travel and transportation will be diverted from us and will never be regained.

It is a condition we face—not a theory—one that materially affects our future prosperity. I leave it to those more directly and vitally interested to say how it shall be met.

H. C. Baker.

The Somerset Leader and the Somerset Herald have been sold to Mr. Thomas M. Owsley, of Lexington, and the two papers will be consolidated, and a semi-weekly issued. Mr. R. M. Feese who owned the Herald, will remain at Somerset and will be in the mechanical department of the semi-weekly.

It is only one month and two days until the November election. The Democratic party must not leave anything undone, as every vote will be needed.

Mr. Stanley is greeted with enthusiastic crowds at each of his appointments. All Ed Morrow will have to do to meet Mr. Stanley is to ask the privilege.

The opening of the Democratic campaign at Glasgow on Monday, the 20th of this month, perhaps drew more people to the capitol of Barren than were ever there before at a political meeting. It was estimated that twelve thousand of the untrified put in their appearance, and enthusiasm reigned throughout the day. Mr. Stanley, our candidate for Governor, was the chief speaker. He was at his best, and the daily papers speak of it as the best speech the noted politician has ever made. Judge J. D. Black, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, and Congressman Thomas also spoke. When the program was finished Barren county politicians predicted that the county would give a majority in November for the ticket of one thousand.

Ed Morrow has plenty jowl. He criticizes the present State administration, forgetting altogether that W. O. Bradley and A. E. Willson resided four years each in the State Capitol, and what they did for the people will be handed down to generations yet to come.

It does not matter who a Democrat voted for in the primary,—Stanley, McDermott or McChesney. The primary is over and a Democratic ticket has been selected and every true party man will vote the full State ticket.

Talk Democracy and vote it, is the battle cry.

Stranger! She's the durndest thing—Risin' four years old this spring, Bought her in Detroit one day, Drove her home here, all the way. She's a beauty, black as ink, Set of eyes that never blink When you're on the road at night, And the goin' isn't right. Over roads both good and bad She just tears away like mad, And no matter what her stride Ne'er a drop is on her hide.

Lightning struck Si. Perkins' barn, Got there first and gave alarm, Took out every horse and cow, Most the wagons and a plow, Luckily that I had her then Minutes counted more'n men. She ain't scared of any band, Drive her up and let her stand, Doesn't need a hitchin' strap, Never had to say "gid-dap!" She's middlin' size, not big nor small It's nature's way, and best of all.

Her pedigree, I've got it straight, It's registered in our own State, She's from the best of stock all round. A thoroughbred in every pound. The man who raised her and her strain, Proudly gave them all his name, They're what made his reputation, And spread it over all Creation. "Sell her!" No—not on your life, I'd as soon part with my wife. Money piled up by the cord Wouldn't buy her,— finest road-making material known, a material that will cover your macadam roads with waterproofing a thousand times more indestructible than oil; a substance hard, yet elastic, that is as enduring as marble. And yet this vast and priceless deposit today is reached only by dirt roads that are almost impassable. This is a disgrace to Kentucky. I would see, and I hope to see, the labor or convicts, as well, as others employed in the development of these great quarries, and I hope to see this, the greatest road-making material ever known spread over 5,000 miles of boulevard all over Kentucky, from mountains to Mills Points. (Great applause)

I could talk to you for a week upon this subject. Oh, it means so much to Kentucky, as a State, and there is much to expect from the developments of good roads. No other State in the Union has such a variety and wealth of undeveloped resources: more coal than Pennsylvania, more hardwood than any other Commonwealth between the Mississippi and the Pacific and more acres of fertile soil than any other State of like area between the two oceans. Our soil produces a greater variety of products than any other on this earth. Why is it that the wealth of the plain are not developed? It is because the people of the mountains cannot reach the wealth of the plains, and the people of the plains cannot avail themselves of the wealth of the mountains because of the cost of getting from one to the other. This is eliminated by connecting them by great highways. It will increase the fertility of the soil and the richness of the mines and the vast wealth of the forest.

Upon the great movement rests the happiness and the prosperity of the greatest people on earth, the people who live and who expect to die in Old Kentucky, God bless her.

Action of Single spoonful Surprises Many.

Columbia people who bought the simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, are surprised at the INSTANT effect of a SINGLE SPOONFUL. This remedy is so complete a bowel cleanser that it is used successfully in appendicitis. Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels and ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. ONE MINUTE after you take it the gasses rumble and pass out. Royse City, TexasEditor News:

I read The News every week and enjoy it very much. You see I was raised within three miles of Columbia, and have visited there three times in the last eight years, and hope to visit old Adair once more. My friends there won't write or answer my letters, so I have quit writing to them. However, I thought probably they might like to hear from their friends and relatives in the Lone Star State and would write to The News and see if you would publish this letter.

I see you are trying to vote a bond for road building, which I think will be one of the best investments the county ever made. Last spring I spent several weeks in our Bell county, where they voted a six hundred thousand dollar bond for road purposes, and they told me that land values were nearly doubled in a year or two, and it was a pleasure to travel in that county and the farmers could market their produce at any time when they could do nothing else. Temple and Belton are thriving towns and the pike roads are giving them a big boost. Also all the small towns are given an impetus in the county. If those bonds fail to carry, you are surely left and you even ought not to have a place on the map.

Well, from parties from Kentucky I am told you have fair crops, notwithstanding an excess of rain. Crops here are fairly good, especially the grain crop. Cotton crop will be short, caused by two months without rain, then two weeks of excessive rain, which has injured it to some extent, but what we have is bringing paying prices. There are many Kentuckians in this county I have never seen, but from Adair county. Mary Sherrill, son and daughter live here and are jogging along alright.

I run across many old ex-Federal soldiers in Texas and from the inclosed slip you will see there is three living here from Cumberland and Adair county, one from New York, one from Tennessee, but was in a Kentucky regiment, the one from Wisconsin used to live here but now of Corpus Christie. His visit here suggested our dinner.

Hoping to visit the old rock ribbed State in the near future and hoping this letter will not fall into the waste basket,

I am yours Sincerely,

W. T. Carter.

Lattimore, Sept. 10, 1915.
Editor News:

One by one the heroes of Adair county Kentucky, fall before the grim destroyer.

I learn with intense sorrow, that the venerable Dr. U. L. Taylor has crossed with the boatman's pole to the undiscovered country.

He was a man of versatile gifts, and withal a Christian gentleman.

While an octogenarian when the dread summons came, he preserved his bodily vigor, his mental development; and best of all; his moral and spiritual nature and attributes.

No profession is brought with greater possibilities or for degradation than that of the physician.

Next to the Roman Catholic confessional, he learns more secrets of human frailty than any other calling, and has more opportunities to be licentious.

Like the teacher of youth, he has a poor opportunity to prove his merits.

The lawyer or the minister can charm or sway by his eloquence; but the doctor ministers to people who generally do not distinguish between skill and charlatanism.

When it comes to blowing his own horn, I commend you to the quack in any calling. An "Injun doctor" can boast of skill to which an eminent physician or surgeon dare not lay claim.

Dr. U. L. Taylor was not taught, in his medical course, that flies and mosquitoes are carriers of diseases, or that tuberculosis is a preventable disease.

Neither was he taught anything about germs, microbes, bacteria; or the sterilization of instruments.

But when younger men, of better opportunities, by means of microscopic tests, found out these things; he caught step with the vanguard, and boldly became a herald of new discoveries.

Not so with the small fry foggy. Every one of them yelled in mortal agony that the fly, mosquitoes, rat, bat and other unclean pests were handiwork of Omnipotence that consumption is "inherited" and no germ was in existence unless as large as a terrapin.

Old doctors had no surgical instruments but barlow knives, handsaws and darning needles, and had no idea of an antiseptic.

Another thing about old doctors, most of them killed out their patients by thirst and "Efficiency" has made our growth possible.

Bowels are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regularly open. Sluggish bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. C. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsiin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally. This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. Carrie McDonald, 1026 Trigg Ave., Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Sallie E. Griffith, Veedale, Ky., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsiin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work.

Any one wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home address by sending address to W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

starvation, and then attributed it to the Lord. If a patient recovered in spite of their ignorant and barbarous practice, then the doctor claimed the glory.

The same rule applies to teachers. If a teacher is related by blood or marriage to school trustees and belongs to church of county superintendent and votes his ticket, the same is a great teacher.

If, however, he is a free and fearless thinker, and exponent of ideas, he is "unsafe."

If he does not carry a face long enough to eat oats out of a churn, he is regarded as ribald and seditious. If he ever smiles or says any thing funny, and does not use the snuffing canting tone of Cromwell's hypocritical "roundheads," he is adjudged guilty of very unseemly levity.

From all such pious frauds may the good Lord deliver me, and I know that to this sentiment, all honest and intelligent beings say, Amen.

I do hope the people of Adair county will build some good roads. Every material development is hampered by the execrable highways.

Come to North Carolina and we'll show you fine, sand-clay roads. My township voted $50,000 bonds, and we are building fine roads.

Shelby is a younger town than Columbia, and has 4,000 population. The soil of Adair is much more fertile than that of Cleveland, and climate just as solubrious.

For this purpose a single application of Sloan's Liniment not only kills the pain but destroys the germs. This neutralizes infection and gives nature assistance by overcoming congestion and gives a chance for the free and normal flow of the blood. WAR SITUATION.

The Germans have penetrated Russian advanced positions southwest of Dvinsk, on the Dvina, in their recent renewed offensive movement against this important city, which lies on the route to Petrograd.

Latest reports seem to indicate that the bulk of the Russian armies retreating from Vilna have escaped Field Marshal von Hindenburg's encircling movement, although to-day's German official statement records a continuation of the pursuit, with the capture of some prisoners.

Paris continues to record the success of the French artillery in inflicting damage on German positions along the western front in the battle of big guns that has been raging for more than three weeks. The response of the German artillery to French fire upon troops constructing new earthworks in the Argonne is reported to have been feeble. Several German ammunition depots were blown up by the French cannonade in the Champagne district, it is claimed.

Berlin asserts that an attack apparently directed by the French against the cemetery positions at Souchez was broken up by the German artillery. The success of a German aviator in shooting down a French aeroplane in a battle with two French aviators is reported.

It is reported through Rotterdam that the Germans have heavily reenforced their lines in Belgium and have restored and strengthened the fortifications at Lille, in France, in anticipation of a possible general offensive by the Franco-British-Belgian forces before the beginning of the autumn rains.

Bulgaria's mobilization order is reported from Athens to have included, up to midnight on Wednesday, twenty-eight classes of troops.

Berlin dispatches indicate that the third German war loan, subscriptions to which closed yesterday, will prove a marked success, estimates being that the total subscriptions will far exceed those of the second loan, which aggregated $2,140,000,000.

Recent reports that Turkish supplies were running short are reiterated in private reports brought to Switzerland from Constantinople. It is declared that because of the lack of raw material 2,000 workmen from the Krupp plant in Germany are idle in the Ottoman capital.

Little further light has been thrown on Bulgaria's attitude toward the belligerents, the latest report being contained in a London newspaper dispatch last night from Sofia that Premier Radoslavoff had announced to his followers the signing of a convention with Turkey for the future maintenance of armed neutrality on the part of Bulgaria.

Reports from the Italian front are that snows already are rendering the operations of the Italians and Austrians in the mountain districts increasingly difficult. Rome, however, declares that Austrian forces which had penetrated into the valleys of the Tofana and Cristallo ranges have been successfully dealt with and driven back.

The British steamer Groningen of 988 tons and the Norwegian steamer Forsvik of 1,107 tons, have been blown up. One member of the Groningen's crew was killed and several injured. The Forsvik's men escaped harm.

HAS NEW LEASE ON LIFE DOYLE SAYS

Declares Tanlac Relieved Him of Indigestion and Sluggishness.

Louisville, Ky., Sept., 28.—M. J. Doyle, of 1127 West Jefferson street, this city, says Tanlac taught him to relish his food after he supposed he had lost his appetite permanently. Mr. Doyle is a route man for the Adams Express Company.

"My digestion was all out of shape," he said recently. "It got to be so bad that I ate almost nothing, and didn't enjoy what I did eat. After a meal I felt worse than I had before. Warm weather made me feel listless and no account, but in cold weather, and especially in damp weather, I was subject to bad colds."

"I dragged along with my work in a half-hearted way. My nerves were in bad shape. I didn't sleep well."

"In the course of my business it was suggested to me several times that I try Tanlac, and I decided to do it. The first bottle did me a world of good, and now I feel as though I had a new lease on life. I am glad to tell others how much good this remarkable medicine has done me, in the hope that others may derive as much benefit from it as I have."

Accidentally Shot.

Robert Stapleton, who lives on Green river, a married man, about twenty-five years old, met with a very serious accident a few days ago. He was preparing to go hunting, his gun being a muzzle loading double barrel shot gun. He had loaded one barrel and was ramming the load in the second barrel when the first load discharged. The contents went into his left side. At first it was thought that the shot would prove fatal, but it is now said that he is slowly recovering.

$1,000,000.00 FOR A NEW STOMACH

It is said that one of America's best known multi-millionaires—a man who ruined his digestion in the pursuit of wealth—stated that he would pay a million dollars for a new stomach.

But, while surgeons have become very skillful in performing operations that were once considered impossible, nobody has stepped forward and offered to sell his stomach to that millionaire. Your stomach is worth more than a million dollars to you. It is LIFE to you.

This millionaire's stomach is so ruined by abuse that it can never be made "as good as new" by any medicine. But YOUR stomach, if properly aided NOW can be restored to its normal condition.

If YOU suffer from indigestion, "heartburn," gas in stomach, foul breath, sense of fullness after eating, sour stomach, and will act NOW instead of delaying longer, yet can get PROMPT relief.

DR. THACHER'S Liver and Blood Syrup will set your stomach right, and do it quickly. It will stimulate and regulate your liver, which supplies bile to the stomach. It will thus provide the stomach with JUST WHAT IT NEEDS in order to do its wonderful work of digestion more perfectly.

It will lubricate your bowels, and cause them to move naturally and gently. It will get your whole digestive "Workshop" into working order, cleanse it, oil up the "machinery," strengthen it—and you'll be AMAZED by the change.

Your appetite will improve. Food will taste GOOD to you. There will be no more discomfort or pains. You'll feel STRONGER. Life will be better worth the living.

DO IT NOW—give your stomach the relief it is calling for, before you are like the millionaire, whose stomach is now BEYOND REPAIR. Dealers sell 50c and $1.00 bottles.
